FOREWORD

In order to present a balanced and understandable assessment of its position, the NRF is repeatedly striving to ensure that its reporting and disclosure procedures to stakeholders are relevant, clear and effective. The Promotion of Access to Information Act \(PAIA\) No.2 of 2000 has been formulated to give effect to the right of access to information as enshrined in the South African Constitution. The NRF views this as not merely an issue of legal compliance, but rather an opportunity to deal with information management in a holistic and integrated manner.

The NRF places great emphasis on fostering a culture of transparency and accountability and continues to subscribe to the principles of openness, integrity, accountability and responsibility to stakeholders.

The NRF recognises that corporate governance is a dynamic area and, as such, its systems of corporate governance are reassessed on an ongoing basis to ensure that they remain at world-class standards and continue to be relevant to NRF's business as it evolves. The organisation therefore complies with the Protocol of Corporate Governance in the Public Sector (1997), the Public Finance Management Act of 1999 ("the PFMA") and the King II Report on Corporate Governance (2001).

This is NRF's revised manual in compliance with the Promotion of Access to Information Act No. 2 of 2000 (Section 14) and we trust that this will assist you in requesting information from the NRF.

1. INTRODUCTION

The National Research Foundation Act No. 23 of 1998 (hereafter referred to as the Act) provides a mandate that positions the NRF as a key agency in confronting the challenges of poverty, wealth creation and knowledge generation and preservation. The NRF views the Promotion of Access to Information Act (hereafter referred to as PAIA) as not merely an issue of legal compliance, but rather an opportunity to deal with knowledge and information management in a holistic and integrated manner so as to effectively execute its mandate in terms of the Act.

This manual will assist requesters to identify records and the manner of accessing them in the NRF. It is also intended to give guidance on how PAIA can be used to gain access to records, e.g. personal information and so on.

2. PARTICULARS IN TERMS OF SECTION 14

2.1 The functions of the NRF

The National Research Foundation Act came into effect on 1 April 1999 and established the NRF as an autonomous statutory body. The Act is an enabling act and its clauses provide the NRF Board with a broad framework within which to create the required strategies to meet the stated object of the Act:

“The object of the Foundation is to support and promote research through funding, human resource development and the provision of the necessary research facilities in order to facilitate the creation and public understanding of knowledge, innovation and development in all fields of science and technology, including indigenous knowledge and thereby to contribute to the improvement of the quality of life of all the people of the Republic”.

The NRF aims for “a prosperous South Africa and African continent steeped in a knowledge culture, free of widespread diseases and poverty, and proud contributors to the well-being of humanity”.
